

ASSOCIATION FOR CYPRIOT, GREEK & TURKISH AFFAIRS

General Secretary: Dr Zenon Stavrinides, 8 Ganners Mount, Leeds LS13 2PE

Tel: 0113 256 8907

Z.Stavrinides@lineone.net

Friday 9 March 2007 at 6.30 p.m.

London School of Economics

European Institute

Canada Blanch Room (J116), Cowdray House, 1st floor,
Portugal Street, London WC2A 2AE

INTERNATIONAL LAW AS A STUMBLING BLOCK TO A SOLUTION OF THE CYPRUS PROBLEM

Dr Stefan Talmon

Reader in Public International Law, Oxford University

Tutorial Fellow in Law St Anne's College Oxford

Chairman/discussant: Dr Klearchos Kyriakides, University of Hertfordshire

Speaker's biography: Born in Germany in 1965. Law studies at Eberhard-Karls-University, Tübingen (1985-1987) | Ludwig-Maximilians-University, Munich (1987-1988) | Wolfson College, Cambridge University (1988-1989) | Eberhard-Karls-University, Tübingen (1989-1991) | St. Antony's College, Oxford University (1991-1995). Scholar of the Konrad-Adenauer Foundation | Scholar of the German National Scholarship Foundation | Rhodes Scholar | Winner of several other scholarships and prizes | University Teacher of the Year Award 2000 | Award of the German Research Foundation for a work of high scientific quality and originality. Professional legal training as judge and public prosecutor (1995-1997) | Assistant Professor, Tübingen University (1997-2002) | Associate Professor, Tübingen University (2002-2003). Dr Talmon most recent publication is a monograph written in German and entitled Collective Non-recognition of illegal States: Legal Foundations and Consequences of an Internationally Coordinated Sanction with Particular Reference to the Non-Recognition of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus.

For a fuller note on Dr Talmon's career, research interests and publication see his website <http://users.ox.ac.uk/~sann2029/>

To find Cowdray House, go to Houghton Street (off Aldwych), walk past the main entrance of the LSE Old Building, follow the road as it turns left, with Waterstone's Economist's bookshop on your right hand, and then at the T-junction (Portugal Street) turn right. Cowdray House stands on the corner.