

The Vets Get Scanning Cats Too petition, developed by Action on Missing Cats, expands the scope of the Vets Get Scanning petition (www.vetsgetscanning.co.uk) from dogs to other microchippable animals, particularly cats. It was created in consultation with Vets Get Scanning. While we recognise that vets not scanning is only one of many obstacles to microchips performing their reunification function, it is an important obstacle and one that is relatively easily overcome.

VETS GET SCANNING CATS TOO

The aim of this petition is to persuade all veterinary practices to scan all microchippable animals – particularly cats – already on their books and to adopt as their practice policy BSAVA and RCVS good practice: routinely scanning every microchippable animal on its first visit.
